

Third-Party Logistics (3PL)

Providing everything from comprehensive, low-cost transportation and deliveries to management that matches customer requirements

Revolutionary Logistics Contracting

We assist customers by devising totally optimized logistics tailored to their requirements. We provide support with the wide-ranging warehouse management system expertise that we have developed over many years and our company's core special consolidated shipping (common carrier) business providing everything from procurement logistics to yard logistics and final retail distribution deliveries.

One-stop services

After observing a customer's overall logistics, we devise a supply chain management-oriented, totally optimized logistics plan, and strive to cut distribution-related costs. We also devise logistics that can serve as a strategic tool to generate new profits.

Distribution centers

When making transport and delivery arrangements, we naturally employ simulations to extrapolate on optimal logistics bases (warehouses). We operate distribution centers and provide personnel as needed according to higher or lower workloads. Individual customers can manage inventory using the warehouse management system we develop.

Order acceptance operations

We handle order acceptance operations for customers in parallel with our distribution center operations, providing a full range of order-taking services, including receiving and inputting orders and answering inventory inquiries from sales personnel. Our service covers distribution from upstream to downstream. This allows our customers to focus human resources on marketing operations and product development, which increases their competitiveness.

Distribution processing

Work related to deliveries from warehouses has become more complex as orders rise for multiple kinds of products, in small lots, and in greater frequency. We respond to wide-ranging customer requirements with a menu that combines distribution processing—such as storage, inspection and order picking—with deliveries as well as data services.
